with JOHNNY MARTIN

Who said that Bear Bryant is interested only in football, and that the University of Alabama athletic program as a whole is on its way down? The Crimson Tide won the SEC track championships last week in Garrett, Coliseum, Montgomery this past week - and Alabama basketball could be the best in the conference next year. With golfers Clyde McClendon (brother of touring pro Mac McClendon) and John Belvin leading the way, Alabama should contend for the crown in that sport also.

Speaking of well-rounded athletic programs, Auburn University lost a gentleman and an intelligent sports figure when Jeff Beards retired as athletic director on the loveliest village last week. A replacement for Beards has not been named as of yet, but Ralph Jordan most certainly has the inside position on the job.

B. R. McClendon, Montgomery's contribution to the Professional Golfers' Association tour, won the best tournament of his four-year career when he finished in third place in the Jackie Gleason tourney last week. Altho' h won the first tournament he played in the 1968 Magnolia Classic, Sunday's third-place money, $18,000 was the biggest check he has received. He usually has a bad round in every tournament which puts him out of contention, but Mac shot consistent golf of 68-72-70-70 last week.

The 39, Annual Coghner Hole Golf Tournament will be played at the Opp Country Club this Thursday. It is held in connection with the nationally famous Rattlesnake Rodeo, golfers from Elba who will be competing include Larry Jacobs, Farrell Hudson, Buddy Beck and myself.

Last year's winner, Malcolm Senn of Opp, plans to bring his title to the event. A meeting will be held in the near future at the Elba County Club for the purpose of organizing a Junior Golf Association for junior members of the club ages 8-18, the members of which will be kept posted on the events at the club, and will Association tour, including medals, instructional films, and lectures. All junior members of the club will be receiving information in the mail concerning the organizational meeting.

Other golf activity in the planning stage for the Elba Country Club this summer are a Junior Invitational Tournament, and club tournaments for both men and lady members. Interest in ladies' golf seems to be at an all-time low at the club right now, but other events will also be planned for them.

Social Security Limit To Stem Rising Cost Is Asked by Industry

Warning that Social Security costs are "getting out of hand," the National Association of Manufacturers has urged Congress to put a brake on the system's escalating taxes and benefit payments.

The Social Security program was established to provide wide work-related benefits, and efforts to make it over into a welfare plan should be staunchly resisted, the NAM said in a statement filed with the Senate Finance Committee.

The committee has held hearings on a bill which con-

BRAINSTORMS

With Ferrin Cox

I have missed several weeks of Brainstorms and am sure that you are all missing them. These complaining don't pretend to agree always but feel I give them something to get mad about rather than flouting with their spouses. Anyway, here goes.

Sometimes our small southern community way of doing things confuse me. Recently at a City Council meeting I witnessed the entire council sit for over an hour and yack about an issue that needed action, yet not two could agree on how to handle it long enough to even get a motion made and seconded. Their biggest concern seemed to be hurting someone's feelings. The issue was "How much license should a trailer park pay" and as far as I know has not been settled yet.

Soon after this incident I stumbled on one of the school board had and they were fearful of hurting someone's feelings. Yet, almost everyone I know knows they were discussing the matter and probably every Sunday school class in Elba spent some time on it in the next few weeks.

I tend to follow the same road but maybe our community would move ahead faster if our leaders would search out the best road to travel and then move in that direction in a tactful manner.

So much for the light talk, now there is no tactful way for me to enter the next subject. . . . ever since the news broke about the commission to study the county was to build in New Brockton one of the Enterprise newspapers has printed insulting articles after insulting articles about the commission to study the county and New Brockton (plus others maybe). Well, they also are apparently attempting to stir someone or group into taking the issue into federal court. My personal idea toward building a newspaper or any business is to build into the community, not take it down. I don't see the point in making money and besides I like the people of New Brockton and feel that a center-of-the-county location for these farm related buildings is the central location for the FARMERS, who will be using the facilities. Also, contrary to some reports, there are indoor bathtubs in the City of New Brockton.

In talking with many intelligent people in Enterprise, I find the only real complaint they have about the whole affair is that the Coffee County Pension and Securities was not moved to the center of the county at the same time the farm offices were moved. The fact is, the

NATIONAL GUARD ROUND-UP

CAPTAIN BILLY R. NORMAN is the commander of Battery C (-), 117th Artillery and is a professor at Troy State University.

Norman first enlisted in June of 1953 as a private in the Luerne National Guard. He has more than 18 military service and has been Battery Commander of Battery C (-) since 1968.

Captain Norman advises that right now there is no limit on the number of enlistments that the Guard can take. To enlist, the minimum age requirements are: 1, be at least 17 years of age, or 2, be a high school senior at least 17 years old. Prior service personnel may enlist for one year at the time and retain their old rank. Thirty-five is the maximum age at which one can enlist.

The administration has worked with the States to get drug-abuse statutes upgraded, to push for rehabilitation programs and for education in schools.

The Federal Government is spending eight times as much in anti-narcotics money as it did three years ago. It is a ceaseless battle. The stakes are high: Young lives to be saved - millions for the peddlers who prey on these lives. On all fronts, the President has moved relentlessly to wage war on the drug menace.

And it is beginning to pay off for the American people.

Ceaseless Battle Against Drug Abuse

BILL DICKINSON

In this age when certain political promises are taken for just that, the President has set out to do what he said he would when he campaigned back in 1968. He has sent 150 law enforcement officers to dry up the drug traffic, to beef up the border, to increase the number of border and to work to help prevent the drug traffic from entering the country. Let HEW call off mass force busting. And then, I'd like to see a change in attitude on the part of the federal judiciary, from the district courts all the way up to the Supreme Court.

The irony of forced busing is that whatever court orders and HEW plans require districts to pay for busing, the federal courts are the way to the Supreme Court. The irony of forced busing is that whatever court orders and HEW plans require districts to pay for busing, the federal courts are the way to the Supreme Court.

AUBURN UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF BUSINESS

Have you been losing customers lately? Do you just accept that, or have you tried to find the reason? Continued trade is built through customer confidence. It is much easier to keep customers than to win new ones. The following are some ways to build customer confidence:

1. Treat customers as if he is your most important customer.
2. Make every effort to have the items your customers want.
3. Make every promise and product guarantee good.
4. How do you treat a customer who comes in to buy a $100 item? Do you give him the same time and consideration that you do for a $100,000 customer? You should.

3 Men Rescued From Near Drowning

W. H. Davis, of Okaloosa, Florida, Buster Kelley and David L. Traywick of Elba, were taken from near fatalities last week when their small aluminum boat was caught in a swirl over the dam on Pea River. The boat was equipped with only a 3 horsepower motor which was not powerful enough to pull the boat free of the swirl.

All three men were thrown from the boat, but each of them managed to make his way to safety. The event was witnessed by a Ft. Rucker helicopter pilot who was a member of the Elba County Search and Rescue Team. The men were rescued, cold, wet and thankful for the assistance.

They were picked up by Joe Russell, a local contractor.

According to information from Elba Police Chief Jack Smart, the boat and motor have not yet been found.

Legionnaires Plan Rally - Feed

Everyone is invited to a political rally Saturday March 11 beginning at 11 a.m. at the American Legion Building in Elba.

Political candidates will be speaking at 11 a.m., 1:30 p.m., and at 5 p.m. Free gospel singing will begin in the Legion Building at 7 p.m. featuring three special groups of singers.

Recreation Board Seeking Leaders

The City Recreational Board is seeking applications for a director to coordinate Summer Youth opportunities and a manager for the Riverside Pool.

Applications for these jobs should be mailed to Chairman Lamar Foley, 2 Elba High School by March 29.

Saturday Is Clean-Up Day

This accident occurred Wednesday, March 1, on Highway 169, about five miles north of Elba.

The car, a 1968 Ford driven by Mrs. Earline Rushing, went out of control when she applied the brakes to stop for the school bus. The school bus, driven by Kenneth Compton, was stopped and about to return some children to their home when the accident occurred.

Both vehicles were extensively damaged and Mrs. Rushing, the only person injured, was taken to the Elba Regional Hospital by the Elba Rescue Squad, where she was treated for multiple lacerations and abrasions about her face and also for chest bruises.

The accident was investigated by the Alabama Highway Patrol Department.

METHODIST PLAN REVIVAL

The schedule for the program will consist of Study Groups that will meet at 10:00 a.m. and 7:00 p.m. on Wednesdays. A Teen-A-Rama for teenagers at 6:00 p.m. Following the study groups, an evening message, discussion groups will meet.

From March 19-24, The Elba Methodist Church will be sponsoring a New Life Mission Program.

The guest speaker will be Reverend Langdon Garrison from Mobile, James Overton from Fort Walton Beach, Fla. Will be the guest song director.

Fete Miss Kaye Mack

Miss Kaye Mack, bride elect of Jerry Griswold, was honored with a miscellaneous shower at the lovely home of Mrs. K. L. Johnson's in Brookdale on March 4th. The guest list was greeted by Mrs. Johnson and presented to the receiving line of Miss Mack. Mrs. Ulma Mack, mother of the bride to be, Mrs. Raif Griswold, mother of the groom to be, and Mrs. J. C. Daugherty, grandmother of the groom to be, were seated at the head of the table. The bride elect was presented a corsage of blue carnations by the hostesses. The gifts were registered by Mrs. James Grimes, sister of the bride to be, at a table draped with a white bridal cloth which held the bride's book and a beautiful arrangement of blue carnations and the feathered regatta pin. The gifts were given a napkin by Miss Lisa Ann Grimes, niece of the bride to be, and was shown to the brides table which was attended by Miss Janet Daniels and Miss Vicky Grantham. The bride's table was covered with a blue tablecloth with an overlay of lace. The punch bowl was encircled with ivy and blue carnations. The table also held a five branch candelabra with white petals. Blue ribbon was entwined on the silver candelabra. Petticoats decorated in blue and white, the bride elect chose

Elba High School is on the verge of fielding a winning team in a sport never before emphasized locally. Playing with some of the members of last year's golf team, I noticed that every player has improved considerably since last summer. Randy Mulaz, last year's Club Champion in the Junior Division, should anchor this year's team, with Ronnie Powell, Keith Boswell, and Ricky Rainer probably holding down top spots. Other golfers who will challenge for starting jobs are Dennis Jacobs, Jerry Kelley, Greg Brunson, and Eddie Kelley. Word from the gridiron is that new faces are coming into the football picture at Elba High School next season. Coach Randy Griffin is working his team mainly on fundamentals and the passing game. We should see a lot of passes next season, along with a good outstanding running attack. An interesting golf story concerning golf's Rookie-of-the-year, Hubert Green of Birmingham: A couple of weeks after Hubert won the Houston Champions tournament, he was in Enterprise to drill with the National Guard. Asked if he had learned a great deal during his first weeks on the tour, Green replied that he had. Then, when asked if he had learned anything from the drill, he replied, "No, of course. On well, that's confidence, I suppose. The newly organized Golf Handicap System at the Elba Country Club is fast becoming a success. Some fifteen members have already established, soon to be certified by the Alabama Golf Association. Although our club has never belonged to this association, interest has been shown and we plan to be a member of the club by the first of April. (1) Members of our club will be eligible to play in the State Junior Tournament. (2) All Junior members will be eligible to play in the United States, and at any tournament in the nation. Auburn University basketball is a subject which hasn't been in the news much this season. However, next season may find the Tigers in the thick of the SEC basketball race. Seven foot Ernie Magri may be a big reason for this. Magri has improved considerably since the start of the season, but Coach Bill Lyni says that Ernie is not yet light enough to carry his weight for forty minutes. A good off-season conditioning program may make Magri into one of the nation's top big men next season. It's amazing how much college basketball has changed in the last ten years. Coach Joel Eaves won twenty games for Auburn in 1962, and nobody on the starting five stood over 6'3". It is obvious that this team would not stand a chance against this year's outfit, which sports a losing record.

Magnolia Garden Club

Holds Monthly Meeting

The Magnolia Garden Club held its monthly meeting at the Elba Country Club on March 2. Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. M. V. Miles and Mrs. Phillip Scarbrough. The president, Mrs. Willard Martin, called the meeting to order and asked that the club members read the Gardeners Creed in unison. Mrs. Ben Brock then called the roll and read the minutes of the January and February meetings. Mrs. Mace Cook, chairman of the Constitution Committee, read for the second time some suggested changes to be made. The Constitution was amended to incorporate the changes as proposed. The Special Projects Committee reported that work is being continued on the Court Square fountain area after a delay of several weeks. A nominating committee, composed of Mrs. Kirk Allred, Mrs. M. V. Miles and Mrs. Robert Marsh was appointed. Mrs. Sam Collier presented an interesting and informative program on "Indoor - Outdoor Lighting."

Hammonds Are Parents Of Baby Girl

Reverend and Mrs. C. A. Hammonds are the proud parents of a baby girl, Coretta Arnette, who arrived February 16 in the hospital weighing seven pounds. Proud grandparents are Reverend and Mrs. H. Hammonds of Greenville, North Carolina and the late Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Coleman of Elba. The Hammonds have three other children.

HOSPITAL Notes

Persons admitted to the Elba General Hospital during the period of February 29 through March 7 were the following:

Elba High School is on the verge of fielding a winning team in a sport never before emphasized locally. Playing with some of the members of last year's golf team, I noticed that every player has improved considerably since last summer. Randy Mulaz, last year's Club Champion in the Junior Division, should anchor this year's team, with Ronnie Powell, Keith Boswell, and Ricky Rainer probably holding down top spots. Other golfers who will challenge for starting jobs are Dennis Jacobs, Jerry Kelley, Greg Brunson, and Eddie Kelley. Word from the gridiron is that new faces are coming into the football picture at Elba High School next season. Coach Randy Griffin is working his team mainly on fundamentals and the passing game. We should see a lot of passes next season, along with a good outstanding running attack. An interesting golf story concerning golf's Rookie-of-the-year, Hubert Green of Birmingham: A couple of weeks after Hubert won the Houston Champions tournament, he was in Enterprise to drill with the National Guard. Asked if he had learned a great deal during his first weeks on the tour, Green replied that he had. Then, when asked if he had learned anything from the drill, he replied, "No, of course. On well, that's confidence, I suppose. The newly organized Golf Handicap System at the Elba Country Club is fast becoming a success. Some fifteen members have already established, soon to be certified by the Alabama Golf Association. Although our club has never belonged to this association, interest has been shown and we plan to be a member of the club by the first of April. (1) Members of our club will be eligible to play in the State Junior Tournament. (2) All Junior members will be eligible to play in the United States, and at any tournament in the nation. Auburn University basketball is a subject which hasn't been in the news much this season. However, next season may find the Tigers in the thick of the SEC basketball race. Seven foot Ernie Magri may be a big reason for this. Magri has improved considerably since the start of the season, but Coach Bill Lyni says that Ernie is not yet light enough to carry his weight for forty minutes. A good off-season conditioning program may make Magri into one of the nation's top big men next season. It's amazing how much college basketball has changed in the last ten years. Coach Joel Eaves won twenty games for Auburn in 1962, and nobody on the starting five stood over 6'3". It is obvious that this team would not stand a chance against this year's outfit, which sports a losing record.

Batteries Last Longer

Science and technology are working to provide new and better batteries, according to Dr. Alvin J. Salikind, director of Technology, ESB, Inc., Philadelphia, Pa.

Citing today's automobile battery as an example, he said the average life is 41 months, compared with 26 months in 1962 and 18 months in 1960. He attributed this gain to improved materials and better design.

Cardwell was born and raised in Coffee County and lives 1 1/2 miles north of Enterprise.

He is the father of four children, two boys and two girls.

Cardwell has 13 years of construction experience, and most of that being in road construction.

COFFEE NEWS & CHAT

BY SARA E. HUTCHINSON

SALES—Offers such as "buy one, get one free," "Two for the price of one" and "one cent sale" are the subject of a new rule that went into effect Dec. 16, 1971.

A free offer must be based on the regular price of the article—not an inflated price—according to a recent Federal Trade Commission (FTC) ruling. The regular price is the price the article has been selling for in the last 30 days. So a $1 item can't have its price raised to $2 and then be offered as a "two for the price of one" special.

Another provision of the new rule is that inferior merchandise can't be substituted during a "two-for-one" sale. Quality of the items offered must be the same as at regular price. Quality can't be reduced either.

The new ruling is aimed at preventing deceptive offers. If you find violations, alert the FTC.

WHITE MEAT—If your family prefers the white meat on the turkey, they have expensive taste. The family with a taste for only white meat pays handsomely.

A serving of turkey from a boned roast of all white meat cost about twice as much as an equal size serving from the whole turkey purchased ready-to-cook. Meat from the breast bought separately costs substantially more than the same amount of meat from the whole turkey or from parts with dark meat.

The turkey in packages of frozen turkey with gravy and gravy with turkey costs at least 50 percent more than a similar amount of turkey from the whole bird.

POT CLEANING—If you have a self-cleaning oven, gather up all your old, stained pots and pans and put them in the oven when you clean it. They will come out looking almost new—and with no scrubbing. But be sure none of the handles of the pots are of wood or plastic.

LITTER PROBLEM—The soup can, bread wrapper and cat-soup bottle that someone threw away today are but a few of the contributions to the growing problem of waste treatment. In one year Americans throw away 74 billion cans and bottles, 34 million tons of plastic and paper.

The amount of refuse is growing, and its composition is changing. Food packaging accounts for 13 percent of all household wastes, and increased use

Three-In-One Study Club Enjoys Dinner Meeting

Mrs. Addie Ann Prescott and Mrs. L. O. English were hostesses to the Three-In-One Study Club for a dinner meeting at the Elba Country Club, Thursday evening.

As the members arrived they found their places at a T-shape table which held for its central decoration a massive arrangement of colorful spring flowers. Following the delicious dinner, the club president, Mrs. Nellie Martin called the meeting to order and announced that the program would be given first, and the business session would follow.

Mrs. J. A. Boyd III introduced Mrs. Elsie Alford and Mrs. Genifer Grimes, of Enterprise, who gave a delightful program on "Fashion News," and Mrs. Sam Sawyer gave an inspirational devotion from the club. Club members attending and not already named were: Mrs. J. D. Whitman, Mrs. E. M. Warr, Mrs. Sam Rowe, Mrs. Mayo Prescott, Mrs. L. P. Morrow, Mrs. R. H. Lee, Mrs. J. L. Larkins, Mrs. J. W. Kendrick, Mrs. Baxter Bryan and the hostesses.

Higher Grade PEANUTS?
Basic Slag + Good Management =
Higher Grade PEANUTS

It's more than a theory. USS Basic Slag will fit into your management plans to produce top yields and better quality nuts because it...

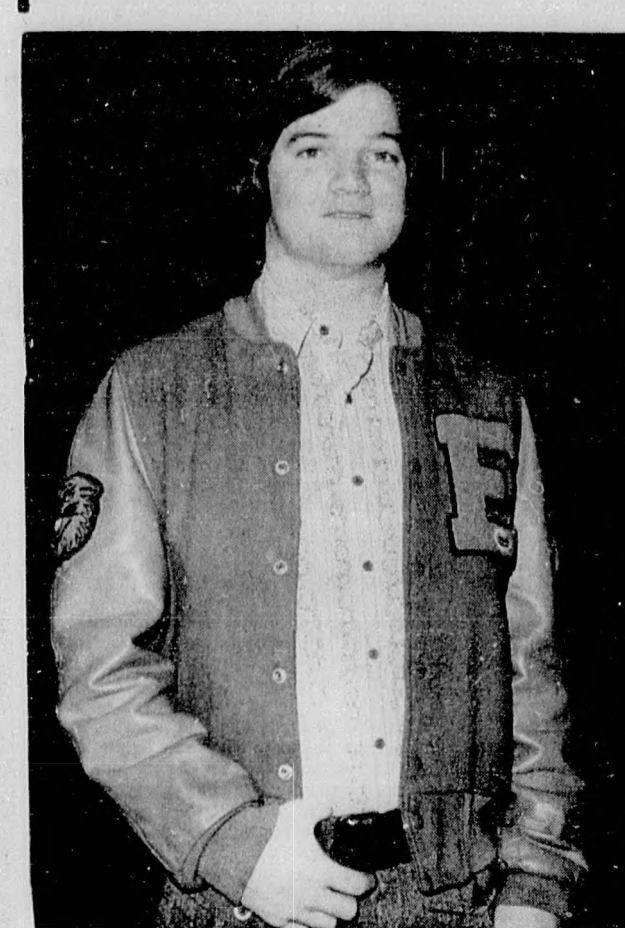

- corrects acid soil conditions in time for this year's peanut crop. Basic Slag is finely ground, and the calcium is in the form that goes to work immediately in the soil.
- provides, in addition to calcium, phosphate, magnesium, manganese, and iron.
- is available with potash and boron premixed, if desired.

Try Basic Slag in your management formula. Schedule now with your local dealer to have Basic Slag spread on your peanut acreage.

SENIOR OF THE WEEK

Charles Pearce Attends Eufaula Convention

Mr. Charles Pearce and Mrs. John Windham represented the Elba Teachers' Association at the A-VOTE and H-1-C-1 Conference held at the Holiday Inn in Eufaula, Alabama, January 23, 1972.

A-VOTE, the Alabama Voice of Teachers for Education is a mutual for Alabama educators to raise and disburse money to political candidates who are friends of education. Tax and election laws at the state and federal level preclude incorporated education associations from making direct contributions to political campaigns of candidates. A-VOTE is, therefore, a separate structure and effectively participate in basic political activity. H-1-C-1, the Citizens' Education Council, is a non-profit organization which is formed to provide political education for educators and an organization that can lobby for education legislation. The ability to communicate quickly with people to whom a legislator feels responsibility will be one of the greatest advantages of ELECT.

This N' That
The Elba High School football team have already ordered new uniforms for the 1972-1973 season. Let's hope for the sake of our eyes that they don't have white numbers on gray jerseys.

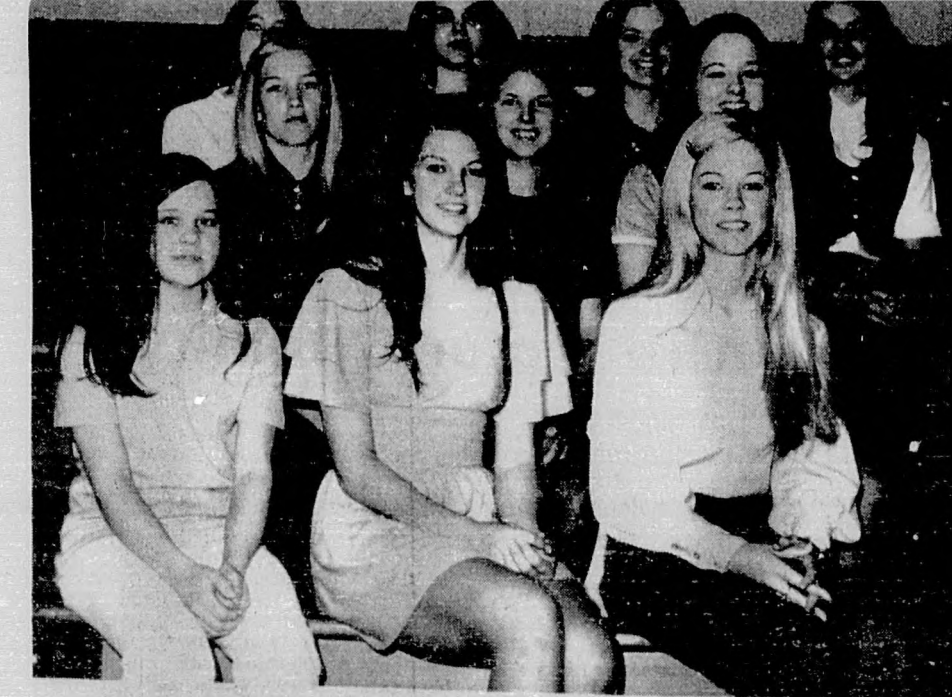

Ignorance Is...
Forgetting to buy a year-book. Telling the truth and getting an undesired absence. Sitting in Mrs. Faddett's class a semester before you realize it is not a Spanish class. Plunking an open book test. Taking your history book to your English class. Going to lunch when the fire alarm rings. Cheating on a test and bragging about it. A senior asking the words to the Alma Mater. "We want a touchdown" (at a basketball game).

Do More
Do more than exist! Live Do more than look! Observe Do more than think! Ponder Do more than talk! Say some things.

TEACHERS MEET

The Elba Teachers' Association met Tuesday, February 22, 1972, at the Elba Elementary Auditorium with Mrs. Sylvia Padgett, President, presiding. Following the business session Mrs. Juanita Scott, Vice-President, gave a report on the Alabama Education Assembly of Delegates which met in Birmingham, Alabama, January 28-29, 1972. Mrs. Frances Prior gave the report of the nominating committee. The officers elected to serve for the 1972-1973 year are Mrs. Juanita Scott, President; Sara Sharpless, Vice-President; President-elect; and Mrs. Elizabeth Dyess, secretary-Treasurer.

New Books In The Library
Forty-yard Dash to the Goal Line, by Willie Makelf, illustrated by Betty J. Jokes, by May Kemelf. The Tragedy on the Cliff, by Ellen Dower. Mystery of the Creaking Door, by Russ T. Hinge. In Debt, by Owen Moore. Thunder Lizard, by Dinah Saur. Under the Bleachers, by Cemore Butts.

Cheerleader Tryouts

Try-outs for next year's variety cheerleaders will be held on the afternoon of Monday, March 27, 1972. Out of the following girls, who are in the tenth and eleventh grades: Judy Kelley, Karen Jordan, Donna Addison, Joni Whitehead, Ann Martin, Patsy Hall, Bev Cox, Glenda Kelley, Donna Howell, and Joan Morris, eight will be chosen. Judges are from out-of-town and usually are cheerleaders or sponsors. They will judge these girls on their individual yells, group yell, pom-pom routine, and tumbling routine. The new cheerleaders will yell at the jamboree which will be March 31, 1972, in the Elba Tiger Stadium. Let's all wish these girls a lot of luck.

JOKES

Bill: My father made such a good scarecrow, the crows won't come near our farm.
Bob: My dad beat that. All Kennedy is so good that the crows brought back the corn they stole last year.
Larry: I've made a car that can run without fuel.
Harry: You must be a genius.
Larry: (modestly) Well, so far it only runs downhill.

The most important things in life are not things. There is a point somewhere when the money for the second automobile ought to go to paying for a better school.
A person who talks about his inferior hasn't any.
Just the rare ability to keep silent while two friends are arguing, and you know both of them are wrong.
Men who get on well with women are usually those who know how to get on without them.
It's painful for you to criticize your friends, you are in it for the long run. If you take the slightest pleasure in it, that's the time to hold your tongue.

HAPPINESS

Happiness is many things to different people. To some it is being married or having a steady girl. To others it is owning their own car or making good. Happiness to you may be anything from the golf course to televising. I express the feeling of many of my classmates when I say happiness to me is being a SENIOR.

Little Things Count

W. L. Grimley of Enterprise, Route 2, has found the key to producing high yielding peanuts. It was probably improved varieties, No. 1, leafspot control. Then after some hesitation, he said, "I don't know if I could name the one thing that has improved the yield of peanuts."
According to County Extension Chairman Tom Casaday, the trend in Coffee County is for more peanut farmers to do a better job in following all recommended practices. When Grimley was asked to name one thing that had helped the peanut farmer increase his yield, he answered, "It was probably improved varieties, No. 1, leafspot control. Then after some hesitation, he said, 'I don't know if I could name the one thing that has improved the yield of peanuts.'"

BRAINSTORMS

With Fern Cox

There seems to be a good bit of interest in the forthcoming Mayor-Council election in Elba. The elections will be held until August but this week three people came into our office and indicated they intended to run for one or the other of the offices. This is good, I admire anyone who helps us keep our society a democracy. However, a few words of advice to those intending to get into City politics. Rather than just complain about the unsolved problems and promise to do something about them, attend a few council meetings and find out if there really is a practical solution to these problems. Our City Fathers can find a half-dozen places to spend every dollar collected so be sure you feel it is justified before you start making political promises.

While we are operating on the City Fathers let's add one other statement. I still don't like "clean house" politics and will not be a party to any. It is my hope that the majority of the voters in any election will look at the respective candidates and pick the one that will do the best job but sure get flustered at some of the reasons given. Along this same line, I can't promise a prospective candidate I will vote for him or her because I just don't know who their opponent will be.

I heard a joke recently that I thought was awful funny at the time. It was a political joke and started with Jim Folsom. I said something about him proving anyone could get elected if he tried hard enough. The joke moved on up through the other governors and ended with the statement that Governor George Wallace had proved we didn't need a governor at all (referring to his being gone all the time). But the majority of the people of Alabama said "We want him anyway" and I say so be it.

There is a heavy attack on Senator John Sparkman this year as he comes up for re-election. We wholeheartedly back the idea of supporting the candidate you think will do the best job but sure get flustered at some of the reasons given. Example: a group from Enterprise, Daleville, Ozark and Dothan went to Washington last fall to "save Ft. Rucker". They met with Washington politicians and discussed the matter. Senator Sparkman was in the meeting and does not object to the visit. The Wiregrass and they came home and split in forty different directions their efforts to "replace John Sparkman". Now they all should know that nothing is achieved in those public hearings, the decisions are made between individuals after the meetings are over and besides John Sparkman could do more to help Ft. Rucker asleep than many of the suggestions. Replacements could do if they stayed awake for the entire six year term!

Planning Holds Key To Business Growth

AUBURN UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF BUSINESS

When someone thinks of small business, the idea of growth normally is not associated. Yet growth is just as important to a business as is to any living thing. If a tree stops growing, it begins to die. So it is with a business, probably yours. However, businesses cannot afford to "just grow" without any guidance, there must be some direction to the firm's growth. Increasing sales, greater inventory or a new branch plant may give the impression of growth, but these factors may actually mean higher costs and lower profits. It is hard to call reduced profits a sign of real growth.

The key to growth of a business is planning, and a crystal ball is not needed to look into the future to make the decisions required to insure growth. This planning means an evaluation not only of all aspects of the firm's operations but also of the industry trends, competitors' actions and customer desires.

How you, as the small business owner, react to these considerations is important. If you recognize what is happening in your company, you are in a much better position to make plans.

According to the Small Business Administration, several criteria serve as measures for the success of a business: (1) rate of employee growth, (2) rate of increase in the owner's investment, (3) rate of return on the investment, and (4) rate of return on sales.

Since expenses tend to rise, they may cut profits if not stimulated by better personal salesmanship.

Your gross margin must be adequate to cover your expenses and an acceptable profit. Higher prices in an obvious way to increase your gross margin, but these methods should not be ignored. Better buying techniques, improved inventory control, sharper salesmanship and increased use of cash discounts will all help to improve your gross margin.

Operating expenses must be brought under control also. Study your cost accounts to determine if any reductions can be made. You may be spending more money than necessary to run your business. Plan realistic expense budgets, and use them to guide your operations.

If you cannot lower costs or raise prices, you must sell more. The more often you "turn over" your inventory, the more you improve your financial situation. Advertising aimed at a well-defined market and a greater variety of goods are important here. Also, look for slow movers which needlessly tie up your operating funds.

Once you have made plans which will aid the continued growth of your business, you must see that these plans are carried out. Not all of your plans will work, and when they do not, you will need to study the results to learn why they failed. Then you can make new plans.

As your business grows, it will be more difficult to manage. Change the routine tasks at the same time. You may need to turn the work over to others. The factors needed for growth—planning, organizing, supervising, and controlling—are a full time job, and growth is needed for the continued success of your business.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

Q I sold my home last December at a $5,000 profit. Do I have to report this as income when I file my 1971 return?

A Not if, within one year before and one year after you buy and occupy another residence that costs as much or more than the sales price of the old residence. Additional time is allowed if you construct the new residence or you were on active duty in the U.S. Armed Forces. In such a case, the tax is postponed, not forgiven. Any gain not taxed in the year you sell your old residence is subtracted from the cost of the new residence giving you a lower basis to be used in the event of a later disposition. If you sell the new residence in a later year, and again replace it under similar circumstances, any tax on gain you realize may continue to be postponed.

Q I won a new car last year in a radio contest. Do I have to pay tax on the prize?

A Yes. Prizes and awards you receive in goods or services must be included in your income at their fair market value.

Q I paid my daughter's medical expenses from the local hospital. Do I include these premiums in the amount of support I furnished her when figuring out whether or not I can claim her as a dependent?

A Yes. You may include as an item of support medical insurance premiums you paid, including (1) hospital, (2) nursing home, (3) medical and dental care. However, the benefits received from medical insurance policies are not included in support.

Q After four years of attending college full-time and working part-time to help pay for it, I graduated last year and took a full-time job. Can I use income averaging to reduce my tax?

A Before you can consider income averaging, a basic requirement is that you must have furnished 50 percent or more of your support during each of the four years prior to 1971. IRS Publication 504, "Computing Your Tax Under the Income Averaging Method," explains all the details of income averaging. It is available free by dropping a postcard to your IRS district office.

Q I used to receive damages for injuries I incurred in an auto accident. I settled for $25,000 before we ever got to trial. Is the $25,000 tax-free?

A Yes if it is compensation for personal injury or illness. Such compensation is not taxable, whether you receive it after trial or through settlement.

Q Where can I get a copy of the IRS booklet, "Your Federal Income Tax?"

A You can buy it for 75 cents at larger Post Office stations. The IRS district offices and branch offices are unable to include PTA functions in their schedule.

Q Are there any limits on how much you can deduct as a charitable contribution?

A Yes. In general, contributions to most charities, such as churches, educational institutions, hospitals, etc., may be deducted up to 30 percent of your adjusted gross income. However, contributions to certain private non-operating foundations, veterans organizations, fraternal organizations and similar organizations are limited to 30 percent of adjusted gross income. The organization itself can tell you which of the two limits it falls into.

There are also certain limitations, such as stock. For details, see IRS Publication 526, "Charitable Deductions for Contributions," available from your IRS district office.

SENATOR SPARKMAN ANSWERS QUESTIONS FROM READERS

Senator Sparkman: I worked for the Federal Government for six years and then resigned. Upon resignation, I applied for a civil service retirement refund. This refund was not paid until I applied for it again. I still haven't received a check. Is there anything I can do to help? (W. T., Muscle Shoals)

ANSWER: The FBI has advised me that it has no authority to search actively for missing persons, however, the FBI does have a missing persons list. In some cases, the Social Security Administration can be of assistance in matters relating to the number of missing persons. For those who never quite mastered the old spelling, a board official was asked if there might perhaps be a simpler substitute.

"That stuff?" That's probably the stuff in your car air conditioner. Refrigerant gas. Quite often people might call it Freon.

ANSWER: There are four general student financial aid programs supported by the Office of Education for which you may be eligible. These are: The National Defense Student Loan Program, the College Work-Study Program, the Educational Opportunity Grants program, and the Federally Insured (Guaranteed) Student Loan Program. Eligibility for the National Defense Student Loan Program is based on "relative need"; for the College Work-Study Program, preference must be given to low-income students; and for the Educational Opportunity Grants program, a student must be in extreme financial need. The Federally Insured Student Loan is administered by participating lending institutions in the student's home community.

For more detailed information on these programs write directly to the Commissioner, Office of Education, Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Washington, D. C. 20205.

Dear Senator Sparkman: My husband disappeared three months ago and I am unable to locate him. A cities, towns and regional authorities construct sewage treatment plants. This appropriation would reach $1 billion in 1975, with the total cost of the clean water program expected to total the staggering sum of $14 billion. The Federal share of the cost of these plants will be from 60 to 90 percent. Additional funds would be available to reimburse construction costs, an increasingly serious problem in the pollution control field.

The States are given broad responsibilities for instituting and expanding control of this form of water pollution. The primary concern is the need for sewage treatment plants. $2 billion this year in Federal grants to help pollution problems by itself. The seafood industry operating in Bon Secour Bay, for example, suffers from polluted waters that originate in Florida as well as Alabama. The Chattahoochee River is relatively clear and sparkling. From its source in North Georgia down to Atlanta where about 80 million gallons of untreated or partially treated municipal sewage are dumped into the river each day, creating the massive pollution problem that threatens the purity of the river down Alabama's eastern border.

The Tomblighs are growing agriculture-related pollution into Alabama from Mississippi. The waters of the Tennessee are affected by what happens in Georgia, North Carolina, and Tennessee before the waters enter Alabama's great Tennessee Valley. Pollution is often viewed as a condition typical of the heavily industrialized and populated North. But Alabama and the South are no longer immune from this terrible blight.

Industrialization is demanding more and more good water while our growing population has increasing needs for clean, drinkable water. And Alabama's tourist and recreation industry will surely founder without clean lakes and rivers providing the pleasures of fishing, boating, and water sports.

I have spoken often of water quality, and I believe that the Senate-passed bill is a great step in this direction.

BILL DICKINSON

States. The remaining 200 serve as advisors and technicians in training the Nationalist Government.

It is my firm belief that the only meaningful support Formosa gets from the United States in its defense is the presence of the U. S. 7th Fleet. The President has reemphasized our determination to live up to our treaty with Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist Government. It should, therefore, be infinitely clear that the United States will continue to honor our commitment to old friend and ally.

Let's talk . . .
ABOUT OUR TEENS
By Jack Brunson

You have probably heard the statement, "Teen-agers have certainly changed since the time I was growing up." On the other hand parents and adults have changed, in many instances, much more than teen-agers have changed. This is one of the reasons I obtained this series of articles for publication in an effort to communicate with as many parents as possible. The title of this series could just as easily be changed to "Let's Talk About Parents."

Today's Subject: "The Disrespectful Teen"

Somewhere in this nation every day some parent marches a teen-ager into a local law enforcement agency and says, "here he is. I've done everything I know to do with him and he still won't mind me. . . he is disrespectful and a smart aleck about everything he does at home, or in similar words meaning essentially the same. And then, "you take over and see what you can do with him. . . you talk to him and make him see the light."

If law enforcement officers were to take over the discipline of every disrespectful teen in any community a mere 24 hours in each day wouldn't be enough. And, if it were possible, a badge and a gun can't possibly do "overnight" what has not been accomplished as the teen was growing up.

Gaining the teen's respect and cooperation, once he has become of teen age, is a rather long process, but not an impossible one. Here are some points to try which might prove helpful.

1. Show by your own words and actions that there are certain things you respect very much. For example, traffic laws, city officials, good citizenship in the community, church teachings.

2. Try to find things to respect in the things that your teen does and give him good, meaningful compliments. "Like the way you handled that situation" is a wonderful phrase to use to respect things in both directions.

3. When you find it necessary to criticize anyone, in front of your teen, from the President of the United States on down, it helps to preface your remarks with, "I respect his position, but he's not right to exercise his powers, but here is what I do not agree with."

4. Actually, there is nothing like showing respect for others to gain more respect from your teens. We all could do a little more showing if we just kept the importance of doing so in mind each day!

A teen who is allowed to show disrespect to others is very definitely headed for a very rude awakening some time somewhere along the line, he is going to run into someone who will not tolerate his disrespectful talk. . . and, the chances are he'll find out learning the hard way the value of speaking respectfully to the people around him in everyday life. Allowing a child to be disrespectful is therefore doing him no favor. . . in fact, you are doing quite the opposite!

In law enforcement we do not tolerate disrespectful talk from teens simply because, like anyone else, must know what laws and rules are all about, so learning to talk respectfully to others is the first step in getting along with his fellow man, and being a law-abiding individual.

In this day and age teens often give us an excuse for their behavior the reason that they have lost respect for the older generation because it is so hypocritical. They must learn from adults that there will always be hypocrisy to some extent in any society, and how far it goes, how deeply seated it is, depends on each individual. But, this doesn't mean that there is no good at all. . . no reason for us to despair. . . no reason for us to lose hope. . . general because one law may seem unfair and needs to be changed.

This nation may have done many things wrong in the course of its history, but it has always been a nation that has always been forward and improving as the years go by. All changes for the better have resulted 99% of the time from orderly democratic process and that is what has made this country the greatest place on the face of this earth to live, work and raise a family!

So, if you have a disrespectful teen, don't despair. Try to be a good parent, instead of an under-the-breath remark about "cops" will do wonders for your teen to observe in you. And, rest assured, if your teen ever gets into difficulty with this department we'll do our best to live up to YOUR request by handling the situation fairly, honestly, with your teen's ultimate good in mind. Of course, your good attitude and cooperation with us always helps! Next week: "Dig That Crazy Music!"

ONE CAR ACCIDENT CLAIMS THE LIFE OF BILLY DEVINE

A one car accident at 2 p.m., Wednesday morning took the life of Billy Devine, age 21. He was alone in the 1972 Chevrolet when the accident occurred.

Devine left the road at a high rate of speed, hit an embankment, overturned and hit a telephone pole ten or twelve feet in the air, according to Highway Patrol Trooper Nelson, who investigated the accident. The accident happened on Highway 194 (Perry Street) at Enterprise) at the intersection with the airport to Basin road.

He was rushed to an Opp hospital by the Opp Rescue Squad after being pinned in the van for some time. Examining doctors reported that his head was crushed and neck broken. He died about 9:30 Wednesday morning. His body was taken to the Elba City Home where it will be in charge of all funeral arrangements.
